GRENADA, MISSISSIPPI, FRIDAY, AUGUST 17, 1928.

NUMBER 13.

D. LANHAM PURCHASES LOCAL PLUMBING BUSINESS

J. D. Lanham, of Greenwood, whose name is known throughout this section as one of Mississippi's leading plumbers and electrical contractors, has recently purchased from J. E. Enderlin the stock of goods and the business of the Grenada Plumbing & Heating Co. which Mr. Enderlin has been successfully operating for many years. Mr. Enderlin's health has not been of the best for several years and it is with the hope of retaining his strength that he is retiring from active business.

Mr. Lanham has leased the building on First Street formerly occupied by Siegel's Dry Goods store and expects to secure possession on September 1st. Meanwhile he will operate the business from the stand next door to Mississippi Power & Light Co. It has occupied for the past few years. Mrs. T. I. Johnson will come to Grenada from Greenwood the first of next week to take charge of the business here. She is a thoroughly experienced business woman and has been associated with Mr. Lanham for 8 years in his Greenwood establishment. In addition to Mrs. Johnson, two plumbers and one electrician will be connected with the Grenada branch of the firm and others will be added as the growth of the business demands.

Considerable additions to the already large stock of fixtures are contemplated and Grenada is to have, according to plans of Mr. Lanham, one of the most up-to-date and complete plumbing and electrical stores in north Mississippi.

COLLEGE YEAR BEGINS TUESDAY, SEPT. 18TH

J. R. Countiss, President for Nineteen Years, Announces Changes in Faculty—Improvements Made on Campus—$300,000 Endowment to Be Added to Funds in November—College Already Enjoys High Rank.

Dr. J. R. Countiss, president of Grenada College, announces that everything will be in readiness for the matriculation of new students on September 18th, and that the formal opening of the work of the session will be held on the 20th. Advance registrations indicate the usual full enrollment, though there is room at present for some twenty additional freshmen. In accordance with instructions from the board of trustees, the main building has been given a thorough renovation, and other buildings are being painted and put in first class condition.

The seven district conferences comprising the territory of the North Mississippi annual conference, which owns Grenada College, voted unanimously in favor of a bond issue by the conference to the amount of $300,000, which is to be applied to the endowment of the college. The bond commission, appointed by the Conference and headed by Judge Percy Bell of Greenville, is preparing the necessary forms and the full amount will be added to the endowment funds of the college in November. This will put this institution for the education of young women in a position to render larger and more efficient service to its clientele.

The faculty of eighteen members ranks with the best in colleges for women, many of them having given years of service for the upbuilding of the college and for the Christian training of young women for teachers and home-makers. President Countiss has been in charge for nineteen years and is in point of service the fourth oldest college president in the Southern Methodist Church. Dean Corinne Laney has been professor of Latin for twenty-four years.

Several new teachers will greet the students at the opening of the session as follows: Bible and Christian Education, Miss Virginia Thomas, M. (Northwestern); Miss Thomas received her college training in Grenada College and was in every way an outstanding student. For several years she was employed by the Sunday School Board of the North Mississippi Conference as elementary superintendent, and is well known for her efficient Christian activities. Education: Miss Catherine Eads, M. A. (Emory), formerly teacher of education in Centenary College, Science: Miss J. Marie Craig, B. S. (Columbia Univ.), with graduate study in Munich, Germany, Peabody College and Duke University. Miss Craig has taught science in the Georgia State College for Women and in other leading southern colleges. Voice: Miss Iona Mae Liller, M. Mus. (Chicago Musical College). Miss Liller is an experienced teacher, has just completed two years of graduate study and comes to Grenada with the best in method and technique. Piano: Miss Elizabeth Ferguson, B. Mus. (American Conservatory). Miss Ferguson has been pursuing graduate work for two years and was formerly Director of Music in Carleton-Newman College, Physical Education: Miss Lillian McGrath, B. S. (M. S. C. W.), formerly instructor in physical education in the

Primary Election Held Tuesday August 21---Vote Your Choice

Two Candidates in Race for U. S. Senator, Hubert D. Stephens and T. Webber Wilson—Stephens Bases Claim for Re-election on His Record and Democratic Usage—Birdseye View of Candidacy of Two Men—Three Candidates for Congress.

Remember the primary election Tuesday, August 21, at which time the voters of Mississippi are to choose one of two men to serve in the United States Senate for the next six years, and the voters of this congressional district are to name one of three men to serve in the lower house of congress for the next two years. Go to the polls and cast your ballot. If you are going away and cannot be at home next Tuesday, go to your circuit clerk and get an Absent Voter ballot and vote it.

As to the candidates for the United States Senate, Hubert D. Stephens is now serving his first term and is asking a reelection. If the men of Mississippi who have frequented Washington City and who have been before congress on business concerning Mississippi are to be believed, Senator Stephens has been all the time at his post and is known at Washington as a hard-working, able and faithful senator. He is known as a man who has got results and who has secured legislation helpful to Mississippi. Among the measures which might be mentioned that Senator Stephens has got through the senate is one to pay back to Mississippians $9,000,000, in taxes levied by the Republican party on cotton just after the Civil War. Others have tried to do this for a number of times; Senator Stephens has been the brains and the tact and enough personal friends in the senate to get this bill passed. Does he not deserve credit for this? The Delta people who went to Washington and after the Mississippi flood of last year say that no man rendered greater service than did Senator Stephens in getting the relief for the Delta. These men ought to know what they are talking about; they have no personal interest in Senator Stephens but they are interested in the truth.

The gentleman opposing Senator Stephens has spent his time in the campaign nagging at Senator Stephens and in trying to place his record in a false light. If he has not been throwing "mud" on Senator Stephens then the people of Mississippi do not know what "political mud" is. Of course this young fellow may have allowed his zeal to win to overcome his better judgment, but if he has made the blunders he has in the campaign, the voters are saying, "what then will he do if elected to the senate?"

It is up to you, Voters, to say whether or not Democratic usage shall be observed in reelecting a faithful, useful official or whether you will turn him off for a rather reckless and unbridled man. It is Stephens and Mississippi, or Wilson and political juggling—which?

The three candidates for a seat in the lower house of congress are Hon. Jeff Busby, the present incumbent, and Hons. A. T. Patterson of Calhoun County and C. H. Aldridge of Montgomery County. Be careful in preparing your ballots in all cases and "make no mistake" is The Sentinel's injunction.

FIELD'S DAIRY IS HOST TO MANY LAST THURSDAY

One of Mississippi's most modern dairies was host on last Thursday afternoon to hundreds of visitors when Field's Dairy had open house to celebrate the installation of its most modern and up-to-date dairy equipment. More than 500 people were served delicious chocolate milks, made in the plant, as well as buttermilk and sweet milk.

Visitors that afternoon were shown the various processes through which milk, purchased from Field's Dairy, must go from the cow to the bottle. Electric automatic milking machines were in operation in the concrete-floored barn where the latest equipment makes for efficiency as well as for cleanliness and sanitation. With this machinery, 30 cows may be milked in one hour's time, heating by many minutes the old-fashioned way. The milking barn is well-lighted and it is so arranged that little space is lost. Each cow has her own individual drinking fountain and her feed is placed so that no other cow has a chance to share it with her.

From the cow the milk is taken to the electric separator where in just a short space of time the milk and cream flow into different containers. Then it goes to the immense tank of 100-gallons capacity where it is heated to a temperature of 145 degrees in the process of pasteurization. From the pasteurizing machine it passes through a cooling machine, reducing the temperature from 145 to 32 degrees. The milk is then ready for the customer after it has been bottled in containers that have been thoroughly steamed and sterilized, insuring absolute cleanliness.

In addition to the equipment mentioned above, Field's Dairy has a complete refrigerating system, manufacturing its own ice and insuring at all times low enough temperature for the conservation of its products.

Power for the operation of the various motors is taken direct from the high power lines of the Mississippi Power & Light Co. which traverse the dairy farm. The power is stepped down to the proper voltage and its use has done much toward the saving of much labor on the place.

Its own water plant provides sufficient pure water to meet the demands of the dairy, supplying 400 gallons per minute.

In addition to operating his dairy, B. O. Field, the proprietor, expects to make 40 bales of cotton this fall, besides gathering an abundance of other farm crops. Hundreds of purebred chickens, lots of hogs and a variety of fruit trees help to carry out the program of diversification that Mr. Field has been following until he has made of his 168-acre farm just south of Grenada one of the best in this section. Improvements are constantly being made on the place and just now a modern barn, city schools of Monroe, La. Miss Alston of the department of home economics is taking graduate work in the University of Chicago. Miss Harris, Mathematics, is doing post graduate work in the University of Pennsylvania.

Grenada College is now the only four year Methodist College for women in a wide territory extending from the Ohio river to the Gulf, and it seems destined to become a center of learning ranking with the best in the South.

Cotton Association Opens Offices Here

Expected to Make of Grenada Much Bigger Market for Cotton—Method of Operation Similar to That of Delta Organization.

The Sentinel is glad to make the announcement to the farmers of this county and section and to the business interests of Grenada that the Mississippi Farm Bureau Cotton Association is opening offices in Grenada to operate during the coming season. This will be general headquarters and The Sentinel is advised that it is expected by the association that, because of it, cotton will be marketed in Grenada this fall and winter from Calhoun, Webster, Montgomery, Carroll and other sections, cotton from communities that have not brought their cotton to Grenada for many years. The Cotton Association has been operating long enough not to be an experiment. It is functioning along the right lines and largely on the same plan as the Delta Staple Cotton Association at Greenwood which has so successfully handled the cotton for the delta planters for the past five years and which is enlarging its members and patrons all the time.

The Cotton Association offers the hill farmers the only plan by which they can market their cotton cooperatively. It has about reached the point that farmers throughout the land have come to the conclusion that they must cooperate in selling and in many other ways or else sink their heads in the sand. It is the judgment of the wisest of the land who have studied farm problems that it is either market cooperatively and live, or sell separately and sink.

The Cotton Association offers the farmers a life boat. The wise thing it would appear to do is to get into the life boat.

The office in Grenada will be immediately in charge of W. L. Armstrong, a cotton classifier licensed by the bureau of economics of the Department of Commerce at Washington. The fact that Mr. Armstrong has been licensed by the government puts him in a class enjoyed by but few in the cotton business and serves to guarantee to the farmers that his classing of their cotton will be accepted by the Federal government.

The field work of the office will be under the direction of R. L. White, an experienced man and one who bears all the earmarks of a high class gentleman and of one who knows the business he is about.

The Sentinel is advised that the association will be prepared to pay the farmer for his cotton when sold or to make advances and hold for better prices where the farmer desires.

The offices of the association will be upstairs over the Ford agency on the north side of the public square.

40 x 80 feet, is under construction. Field's Dairy is indeed a revelation to the visitor and The Sentinel would advise its readers who haven't visited the place to do so. They are given a most cordial welcome at all times and what they will see there will well repay them for their time.

SENTINEL SUBSCRIBER SAYS STOP HIS PAPER

J. W. Black, of Stewart, Miss., Democrat for 58 Years, Objects to Advertisement of Democratic National Committee Asking Campaign Contributions. Says Shot at Catholics Expresses Views Freely.

Editor Sentinel: This is to inform you to not mail me another of the only cause. I have been a subscriber for many years but I see no mark of indication showing it is an advertisement. I will not publish what you please but I am not required to read such stuff and have never thought of such stuff from a Mississippi paper especially a Protestant. I am informed he is not only a Catholic but a Knight of Columbus. I can put up with his being Catholic but cannot vote a K. C. so it's too indelible on the brain. Can't expect a man who has taken the oath of a Knight of Columbus to discard that oath and abide the oath of a President of our government. A man can't live up to the requirements of the two widely different oaths.

Al Smith has a strange idea, it seems, of Democracy. His selection of Raskob as chairman of the Democratic party and his chairman—it's claimed Raskob has always been a Republican, I understand all so a Knight of Columbus. Do you think people can and will swallow such? I've voted Democratic as well as in Mississippi 58 years but was never used to this new fangled Democracy—where a convention nominated their candidate for President, made their platform, put a dry plank in platform and then go out and get a wet and put him on a dry platform and then allow their nominee to select a Republican for chairman of his party. Away with such Democracy.

I happened to see this clipping and it's putting in print something I do not want. Al is no Democrat. He accepted the platform made at Houston but has gone back on it already.

Now I want to say I have enjoyed reading your editorials often. Truth is that's why I took it. Many, many times I agree exactly with you in your editorials—but this clipping—asking for contributions for a man that I can't see that really should or could claim he was a Democrat, one who selected as his chairman a Republican and a Knight of Columbus, too, as well as the nominee—is just too much for my stomach. When my stomach gets settled, if it ever does, I may send you another check to get to read your editorials but not now.

Thanks and best wishes. I beg to remain, Respectfully, (Signed) J. W. BLACK, Stewart, Miss., Aug. 10, 1928.

(Editor's Note—Our friend failed to enclose the clipping to which he referred but he was evidently speaking of the advertisement from the Democratic National Committee asking for campaign contributions. We are sorry that he took exception to the advertisement and we regret that it affected his stomach to such an extent (Continued on page 4)

Mississippi Newspapers Comment on Race for United States Senator

Almost All of Them Say Speeches of T. Webber Wilson Have Hurt His Candidacy Instead of Helping It—Home Newspapers, Together with Those of Other Sections, Express Opinion that Wilson Has No Chance Whatever to Win.

YAZOO FOR STEPHENS

The consensus of opinion in Mississippi is that Hubert Stephens has been loyal and has made a very acceptable Senator and should receive a second term and that Congressman Wilson is making a political error in opposing him at this time.

The primary election is to be held on August 21 and the prospect is that a small vote will be polled. Yazoo City is sure to go for Stephens.—Yazoo City News.

NEWSPAPER IN WILSON'S DISTRICT HAS SAY

There is but one issue in the Mississippi Senatorial race, and that is whether T. Webber Wilson, congressman from this district, deserves promotion. The idea prevails that this young man has laid down on his job at Washington; that he has played around in the capital city through the years and has squandered his opportunities. We heard the joint debate at the Neshoba County Fair last week. Congressman Wilson used up his time discussing the record of Senator Hubert Stephens, and the Senator hit the nail on the head when he stated during the debate that the reason the Congressman spent his time discussing his opponent's record was because the Congressman had made no record for himself. The promotion of public servants should come only on a basis of service rendered, and if T. Webber Wilson had been employed by some business institution through the last few years where he would have had to show results long ago he would have had to hang out his shingle.—Gulfcoast Guide.

HOMER PAPER BELTS WILSON

Hattiesburg American Hits Solar Plexus Blow. It is said of Marcus Aurelius, one of the greatest of the Roman emperors, that each morning as he arose, he repeated this sentence: "I must remember today that I am a Roman citizen." It may be said with entire truthfulness of Hubert D. Stephens that at all times and places, he remembers that he is United States Senator from Mississippi, and conducts himself in a manner befitting the successor of Davis and George, Walthall and Lamar.

The address of Senator Stephens on Tuesday evening was the plain, forthright utterance of a simple, unassuming Democrat. It breathed sincerity and devotion to duty. It contained none of the clap-trap of the demagogue, and was remarkably free from mud slinging and personalities.

Senator Stephens regards himself as the public servant of the people of Mississippi. He came to Hattiesburg to give an account of his stewardship. No fair-minded person after listening to him talk for one hour and twelve minutes could fail to be impressed by what he has achieved since he succeeded

Grenada Schools Open Sept. 10th

Superintendent Rundle Issues Statement of Interest to Patrons—Grenada School System Second to None in Mississippi.

Grenada City Schools will open in all departments on Monday, September 10th. Everything possible is being done by the superintendent and trustees to make the city schools second to none in the state. A splendid faculty of teachers has been secured, the buildings are thoroughly sanitary, and many repairs and improvements have been made that will be appreciated by parents and pupils. The new primary building for first and second grades is complete and is a separate and distinct unit long needed.

Parents are urged to give serious consideration to the moral as well as economic significance of punctuality and regularity in attendance. Individuals who are taught and required to meet engagements promptly in childhood seldom fail when they come to maturity. A tardy pupil is an embarrassed and often handicapped pupil. The first bell rings at 8 o'clock, the second at 8:15. After 8:15 a pupil is tardy. We solicit such cooperation as will make the punctuality and attendance record better than ever.

Parents who insist on children entering the public school before they reach the age of six are unconsciously unfair to the children and the teacher. In many states the minimum school age is seven. We request that children under six years of age be kept at home. They will ultimately do better work in school studies. It is a wise precaution to have the family physician and the dentist examine the children before the opening of school. If a child has not been vaccinated

COOLIDGE AND STEPHENS HAVE CONTEST IN LACONICS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—Frederic William Wile, writer of Washington Observations, one of the most famous of Washington newsmen, writes thus of the Junior Senator from Mississippi:

The chief claim to fame of Senator Hubert D. Stephens of Mississippi, who is now in a primary contest for renomination, is that he doesn't make speeches in the Senate, but manages to be uncommonly effective notwithstanding—or because of—that fact. The Senator's rival for the Mississippi nomination is Representative Thomas Webber Wilson, a "boy orator" of vaunted spellbinding abilities, now in his third term in the House. Stephens made his most important Senate speech last spring during the Mississippi flood control debate. It was six words long. He said, "I will yield for a vote." The Senator was in charge of the bill in the upper house, and his eloquent outburst was followed by the passage of the measure without a dissenting vote. A few days before that episode Senator Stephens and President Coolidge discussed flood control at the White House. It was described by an eyewitness as a contest in laconics.

BEAT 5 SUPERVISOR EXPLAINS TAX RAISES

W. W. Whitaker, Member of Grenada County Board of Supervisors, Gives Full Discussion of Work of Supervisors in Trying to Raise Assessed Valuation of County 10% as Ordered by Tax Commission.

To the Taxpayers of Grenada County:

Your Board of Supervisors for the past ten days has been engaged in equalizing the assessment rolls of Grenada County. This being an even numbered year, both the real assessment and the personal assessment have been equalized.

As you should know, the past legislature made appropriations of much greater magnitude than at the 1926 session. The confederate pension appropriation, a very laudable act, accounts for much of the increase. Even at the predicted 8 mill state levy, the state can not obtain sufficient revenue from the old assessment to meet its commitments. It will require a 10 per cent. state-wide increase in assessments to obtain for the state the funds necessary for the state's appropriations.

The State Tax Commission, whose power in matters of state taxes are well-nigh supreme, has asked Grenada County (and all other counties) to turn in an assessment 10 per cent greater than last year. This does not mean, and I can not emphasize this statement too strongly, that each individual item must be raised 10 per cent. It was the Tax Commission's idea, and it has been the Board's idea, (1), to seek out, find, and assess properly that has heretofore escaped taxation, (2), to raise the assessment on individual property which has heretofore been grossly under-assessed, and (3), to leave as it is property which is fairly and equitably assessed. The board, individually and collectively, has made an earnest effort to do those three things, and the result of its (Continued on page 4)

Man Escapes Death In Dynamite Blast

Charge of Dynamite Prematurely Explodes, Injuring Illinois Central Civil Engineer—Injuries Pronounced Not Serious.

J. T. Westbrook, 59, Illinois Central civil engineer, sustained a great bodily shock at 11 a. m. Thursday when a charge of dynamite prematurely exploded. A physician, hurriedly summoned, pronounced his injuries not serious but stated that he might possibly have one or more fractured ribs. The injured man was taken to his home in Water Valley on the early afternoon train Thursday.

Mr. Westbrook has been in charge of operations in the work the railroad is doing just north of the Grenada station blasting a new channel for Batupan Bogue Creek to divert its waters from the pillars of the railroad bridge. Just above the bridge Bogue flows into the Yalobusha River and the changing currents in recent years have worked havoc with the bridge foundations.

Mr. Westbrook had just applied the light to a charge of blasting powder and, as he turned to get out of the danger zone, the charge exploded. He was hurled to the ground and was momentarily stunned. A negro assistant, the only witness to the accident, rushed to his aid and says that the fallen man was fully conscious all the time. The charge was the second of the day and contained eight sticks of dynamite of 60 per cent strength.

LAST WORD FROM HON. C. H. ALDRIDGE

To the People of the Fourth Congressional District:
Our campaign for Congress is drawing to a close. The first primary election is next Tuesday, August 21. I have had a definite purpose in making this race for Congress, and I have steadfastly pursued my course throughout the campaign.

I have sought to impress you with this purpose in all of my utterances and activities, and my case is now in your hands. Your verdict will be rendered at the polls next Tuesday.

I am in the race for Congress because in the first place I have tried to so live and conduct myself as to be worthy of the honor. I was bred, born, reared and now belong to the farming class of people. I consider it a worthy ambition to serve the largest population of white farmers of any congressional district in the State of Mississippi.

This district, as now composed, has never been represented in Congress by a farmer. That does not qualify me, or any other man, for the place. But with the record I have tried to make as a legislator, and the interest I have felt in farm legislation and the need for national legislation along the same line, leads me to hope for favorable consideration from voters of my class, as well as others whose callings, avocations and professions are so closely identified with the farming interests.

In the conduct of my campaign I have scorned to appeal to class or race prejudices. I have nothing radical in mind to injure any class or reflect upon any calling of our people. I only want to be helpful and placed in a position to render meritorious service in a broader field of action. All indications are that farm measures and legislation will occupy the attention of the next and succeeding sessions of Congress as never before. Every other interest of the American people has already been served in one way or another by protective legislation. The "first shall come last," and the farmer alone stands unprotected by government. His industry competes with the world. It is generally conceded that justice demands relief for him. The only question is the means to be employed.

Mississippi has led the way in standardizing farm products to make them marketable. I had the honor of making it possible to secure the legislation needed for this marketing system. It has been endorsed by the national commissioner of agriculture, and points to future helpful legislation by Congress, in which I hope to have a part.

There are other matters connected with farm legislation of equal interest to our people, such as extensions and improvements in the rural mail service, and related to that, Federal highway legislation designed to serve particularly rural mail routes and roads traversing rural communities and milk routes for the dairy industry. A road program of that sort is much more practical in the progress and development of our State than the construction of tourist routes and passenger and traffic routes of negligible value to the permanent community.

In campaign speeches I have sought to stress my interest in a square deal for our soldiers and veterans of all the wars. They are entitled to all the consideration that can be shown them, and they enlist my best efforts at any time and in any position that I can serve them.

I have also tried to impress my sincere conviction of the sovereign right of the State to be paramount in all the councils of government. That is the old Democratic idea that should be carefully safeguarded by servants of the people who occupy high places.

As above stated, I came before you with a definite purpose and a carefully defined platform of principles. When you retire to make up your verdict next Tuesday, I hope that in your consideration of my case you may overlook such defects and shortcomings as have appeared to you, and regard me as a citizen, legislator and aspirant for this high office honest in his purposes, sincere in his convictions and candid in his effort to merit your approval.

In conclusion, permit me to say that every dollar I own is invested in Mississippi land and property. If elected to Congress, my secretary and personal employees will be Mississippians, and my net earnings from the office will be brought back to our beloved State and invested in her soil.

Will thank you for your support, vote and influence. If you feel that I deserve your favor, please ask your friends and neighbors to vote for me. If you do not know me, ask about me where I have spent my entire life, in Winona and Montgomery county, Mississippi.

OUR CHOICE FOR U. S. SENATOR HUBERT D. STEPHENS FOR RE-ELECTION

Watch Senator Stephens come under the wire first.

Wilson's audiences where he has spoken alone in Mississippi have not overaged 100.

In all of his speaking in Mississippi, except when Senator Stephens gave him an audience, Wilson has not addressed 15,000 people.

Those who ought to be posted about the politics of the state and who have had an opportunity to get the views of voters from every section of the state say that Senator Stephens will carry fully 75 per cent of the counties.

ELECTION OF A UNITED STATES SENATOR NEXT TUESDAY.

The election of a United States senator is always an important thing to any state. It is important to the United States. On several occasions in the history of the country, one single vote in the senate has decided momentous issues. Too much are people inclined to evade responsibility and to lull themselves into a "makes-no-difference" attitude about many public matters.

Approaching the matter from a purely monetary standpoint, a senator is paid $10,000. per year. It does seem that it is important to exercise great care in selecting any one who is to be paid ten thousand dollars of our money. It does seem that the place is important otherwise the annual compensation would not have been fixed at ten thousand dollars.

The framers of the constitution of the United States regarded the office of United States senator second only in importance to the presidency.

The obligation of choosing a United States senator devolves upon the people of Mississippi at the election next Tuesday.

Two men are offering for the place. One of them is a man of ripe experience who has made a most admirable record wherever he has been tried. His record as a United States senator is almost unparalleled when it comes to accomplishing things. He is a doer. He gets results for his people. He has the confidence and the esteem of his fellow senators to a degree that few senators have. He has perhaps more warm, personal, trusting friends in the senate than any other member of that body. There are dozens of senators, regardless of party lines, who are just glad to aid in any matter which Hubert Stephens desires to have done. This is a big asset for him. It is a greater asset to the people of Mississippi.

The other gentleman in the race is young, but he is like the unbroken colt. He shies at some things. His gaits are not developed. One cannot tell yet whether he is better suited for the wagon or the buggy. Thus far he has shown none of the qualities of the "family horse". His pedigree is all right, but the Mississippi family of voters knows full well that one cannot live on "pedigrees"—an aristocracy of lineage does not necessarily mean that the possessor can meet the cornbread, everyday need of the public. In the language of Hambone, the demand is today, "not whut your father wuz but whut you iz". Anyway, it is always safer for the family when the young horse quits foaming at the mouth and rearing and prancing when meeting other animals.

Narrowed down, the real question that concerns the welfare of the voters is the ability of the two men; their knowledge of statecraft; their experience; their ability to influence those with whom they come in contact; their faithfulness; their honesty; their integrity; what their records show they have done; their loyalty to friends, to country and to party. Apply the yardstick to the two candidates and then vote according to the measurements shown. Stephens of experience or Wilson untried—which?

JUDGE ANDERSON'S RENOMINATION.

It is one of the gratifying things of the politics of the present day that Judge W. D. Anderson, associate justice of the state supreme court, has been renominated without opposition. Judge Anderson is a great lawyer. He has made an able supreme judge. He is an upright citizen and one of the outstanding characters of north Mississippi. He is genuine in his friendships and an advocate of those high principles in private and public life that make for the safety of the government and the welfare of the people. The people of the entire state are fortunate in having a man of Judge Anderson's ability on the supreme bench.

MUST FIND TIME TO DIE.

He who cannot find time to consult his Bible will one day find he has time to be sick; he who has no time to pray must find time to die; he who can find no time to reflect is most likely to find time to sin; he who cannot find time for repentance will find an eternity in which repentance will be of no avail; he who cannot find time to work for others may find an eternity in which to suffer for self.—Hannah Moore.

MR. HOOVER'S ACCEPTANCE SPEECH.

The speech of Herbert Hoover, Republican candidate for President, delivered on the evening of August 11, accepting the nomination of his party was a unique utterance in many respects. It was unlike almost any other speech of its kind. Mr. Hoover did not talk altogether about "business", as is the case with most Republican speakers. He showed that he believed the spiritual life, the homes and the real character of the citizens of the country are matters of far greater importance than accumulated dollars. It was not a rabble rousing speech, but a calm appeal to the judgment and the thought of the American people. Of course from a Democratic viewpoint he went far astray in urging the continuation of a protective tariff and particularly do Democrats believe that he is in the wilderness when he proclaims that a tariff on farm products will bring relief to the farmers of the country. He again demonstrated that he can coordinate his thinking; that he is a believer in system and well ordered official procedure.

It is perhaps the first time that a candidate for the presidency thought it necessary to mention his own religious affiliations, and we think he acted with due propriety and wisely in saying what he did in this regard. He is a Quaker. Much has been written and said for and against the Quaker religion. Our idea has been that they are a placid natured and trustful sect, and that as a people they have rendered America a great service. Nevertheless Mr. Hoover no doubt realized that the arrows that are now being fired at Al Smith, his Democratic opponent, because he is an adherent of the Catholic church may soon be turned towards him.

He made this fine appeal for the right sort of religious tolerance and particularly that no man should be barred from public office because of his church affiliations. He said:

"In this land, dedicated to tolerance, we still find outbreaks of intolerance. I come of Quaker stock. My ancestors were persecuted for their beliefs. Here they sought and found religious freedom. By blood and conviction I stand for religious tolerance both in act and in spirit. The glory of our American ideals is the right of every man to worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience."

His speech confirmed the idea that many have entertained that this is going to be a campaign where the personality of the candidates is a factor perhaps to a greater degree than ever before.

Unquestionably the Democratic onslaught on the Republican breastworks is going to be an Al Smith onslaught. Everywhere and in all matters are the Democrats going to pin their faith to Al Smith. Like Teddy Roosevelt, Smith is a precedent breaker. He makes his own rules, and like Teddy again, may be counted on to get outside of the fortifications and to do many things which are shocking to the politically ethical-minded, and who can think of no party procedure that has not the stamp of heretofore party chiefs. Hoover is the very antithesis of Al Smith in many ways, yet there is a common likeness between the two men.

The speech sounded a new note in the political life of the land. Hoover demonstrated that he has a breadth of vision that takes in all sections and all creeds. His past record shows that he is not a preacher of one thing and a doer of another, and that the whole country may feel that he is President of all the people, and a leader imbued with the highest motives, if he wins the presidency.

WHEN NEWSPAPERS ARE OVERLOOKED.

We have before us the August issue of the "Mississippi Builder", a well gotten up and skillfully arranged publication.

Now we have no criticism of the Mississippi Builder—it is all right and its editor and managers are doing just what any other men would do with the opportunity offered them. But what about the daily and weekly newspapers of the state which are "builders" all the time, in every issue? They keep the home fires burning.

We are wondering in this connection why it is that almost every time any set of men, society or association of men, want to do something that is particularly worth while, they overlook the newspaper? Space could be used in the newspapers at a cost far below what special publications cost. The newspapers carry the every day and every year burdens of the state and their different communities. They talk that which they think is best and which means permanency and prosperity all the time and in every issue, yet when big money is to be used to further any movement through the use of printer's ink, it is so often the case that a special publication is launched. Let business men answer why this is? They need the newspaper just as much as the newspapers need them.

In the last dozen years, Mississippi has seen the rise and fall of several special publications whose advent was heralded as the journalistic Moses to show Mississippi out of the wilderness where she has been wandering long, these many years. And it is a solemn fact that these publications are numbered with the things that were.

Possibly they served their day of usefulness and that it was time that their carcasses were scattered on the beach of time.

But again we inquire, Why do not those who have "promoting" money not use the newspapers which are their friends and which fight the battles for truth, justice and right in the lean days?

It may be that men who make special publications possible have not thought of the newspaper's viewpoint about such matters, and that they have not used their brains and calculators as to just how much further their dollars would go and how much more effective those dollars would be if they were to act on the idea we are trying to set forth.

WILSON'S CAMPAIGN ALMOST BARREN OF NEWS-PAPER SUPPORT.

It is almost pathetic from one viewpoint to perceive that Webber Wilson has the back of the hand of nearly every newspaper in the state to him. Only the Free Lance is continuously advocating his cause. The Senatobia Democrat, edited in the county of his birth, is giving him a conservative, charitable support. The bent of the policy of nearly all the press is adverse to him. Not a single daily newspaper is supporting Wilson. He has himself only to blame for this. He brought it upon himself. In a sense we are sincerely sorry that he got himself into the predicament he has. Personally we feel most kindly to him. He comes of noble parentage. Many of his relatives and earliest friends are our friends. But when even our own children persist in getting in the way of an avalanche, why, we are unable to help them.

YAZOO CITY SENTINEL JOINS STEPHENS COLUMN.

The Yazoo Sentinel joins the Stephens column in its issue of August 10. The Sentinel is well and ably edited at all times. It is constructive and conservative. In commenting on the speech of Webber Wilson in Yazoo City the night before, among other things the Sentinel stated that it would have been better for him had he not come to that city.

That paper further observed:

"There is little doubt in the minds of anyone who has given even casual study to the situation that Hubert D. Stephens, present incumbent, will carry at least 75 per cent of the counties in Mississippi, and be returned to the Senate by a big majority."

****

"Laying aside entirely any disposition to vote for one or the other on personal grounds, and weighing both men on their native ability and records in Congress, no open-minded man who loves his state, and wants her interest properly represented in the nation, could hesitate for one moment to vote for Mr. Stephens as the abler and better fitted man for the place."

****

"If Mr. Wilson does not arouse more interest and enthusiasm elsewhere in Mississippi than he did in Yazoo City Wednesday night when he talked to less than a hundred people, without any applause except a feeble demonstration when he opened and closed, he had best retire from the race now, and let his opponent be unanimously declared the nominee."

NEW FORMULA HAS REAL TONIC EFFECT

Sargon Not Limited to Old Methods of Temporary Stimulation of Heart and Nervous System.

Although Sargon is called a "tonic", it is for want of a better word.

This new epoch-making formula which has accomplished such astonishing and gratifying results is designed to exert a tremendous stimulative and upbuilding influence on certain vital organs and fluids of the body, so that they will perform their proper functions as nature intended.

So-called tonics of the past, in the majority of cases, have fallen at short of Sargon's powerful, invigorating effects, simply because medical science had not reached its present-day high development, and could not prescribe with such far-reaching benefits as it can today. This advance in learning made it possible for Sargon to be developed, for Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills are the direct result of the last ten years of medical research. Final perfection of the formula crowned two and one-half years of laboratory work by the head of pharmaceutical chemistry in one of America's greatest universities.

When Sargon is given to thin, rail, rundown men and women, people who never know what it is to enjoy a well day, the following improvements are noted in a majority of cases:

The appetite increases, the complexion clears; indigestion, gas, bloating, constipation and other common, every-day ailments are overcome; a sense of physical well-being and mental alertness replaces a dragging body and depressed mind.

Everywhere Sargon has been introduced, literally thousands have come forward to tell of the astonishing and gratifying results they have obtained from its use. Sargon Soft Mass Pills are a necessary part of the Sargon treatment. They should be taken daily in connection with Sargon until regularity of bowel movement is established, so that the system may take advantage of the remarkable therapeutic powers of Sargon. Then and then only should their use be discontinued.

Sargon may be obtained in Grenada from Corner Drug Store. (Copyright 1928 by G. F. Willis, Inc.)

Rites for William Bland

Funeral services for Will Bland who died last Wednesday were held Sunday, Aug. 12th, at Mt. Herman, 8 miles east of Grenada. Interment was at Grenada in the family burying ground. He had been sick for quite a while and his death was expected. Will Bland was a splendid man and was loved and respected by all who had the opportunity to know him. He was one of the kind of men who could be relied upon for any interest or obligation that he assumed. He was a staunch member of Mt. Herman A. M. E. Church and his place will be hard to fill. He leaves a wife and a large family, principally girls, besides five sisters and a brother to mourn his loss. They have our sympathy.

Mrs. Annie (Booker) Dobbs, of Pittsburgh, Pa., is in the city visiting her husband's relative, Mr. Wesley Dobbs, who resides a short distance in the country. She brings the children with her to see their grandfather who realizes so much pleasure in having them around him. Mrs. Dobbs was at one time a teacher in our city school where she was very efficient and popular. We trust her stay may be pleasant and profitable.

Harry Ratcliff, Jr., of Memphis, is in the city. He stops over to visit his grandmother, Mrs. Eliza Ratcliff. He has been engaged with his uncle, Monroe Franklin, who is chef for the boys scouts of this section.

Mrs. Lethy (Brooks) Henderson, with her two boys, of Cleveland, Ohio, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Brooks, of this city. Her friends here are many. She is at home when in Grenada and of course is enjoying her stay.

Mrs. Edna (Golden) Cunningham, of Chicago, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Carrie Golden, sisters and friends. The windy city agrees with her if the addition of an hundred pounds of flesh is any sign. She will remain in the city for quite a while.

Mrs. Louveta Weathers and her son, James, Jr., left Monday morning for Memphis to spend a few days with her son, Luke Weathers, and family, and from there she expects to go to Detroit, Mich., to visit her two daughters, Maggie and Estella.

Saturday morning as the hour approached for devotion at the Grenada negro summer school, there were many mysterious movements and much whispering. We were not able to find out what it was all about however, until we were all seated in the spacious auditorium of the school building. Finally when Prof. Addison, who has been principal and local director of the school for the past three years, came in he was followed in a few moments by a young woman who presented to him a beautiful bouquet of flowers. After the presentation of the flowers, Miss E. B. Nason sang, "I've Done My Work" and Mrs. Lola M. Gause then rendered, "The End of a Perfect Day".

Following these numbers, Rev. A. S. Blake, on behalf of the teachers of Grenada county, presented a pair of beautiful cuff buttons to the retiring principal.

Prof. Addison, visibly affected by these splendid tributes of appreciation, closed his remarks of thanks by saying, "Long, long be thy heart with such memories filled. Like the vase in which roses have once been distilled. You may break, you may shatter the vase if you will, But the scent of the roses will cling round it still."

The program ended when Mrs. A. E. Applewhite brought tears to the eyes of the audience by singing, "Alohae".

SENATOR HUBERT D. STEPHENS

He is a worker, not a talker. Vice-President Dawes says, "Stephens has succeeded in getting more of his bills passed than any other member". The number of bills that he has passed for himself and for his Committees is nearly 100. His opponent has had enacted into law only one bill.

Stephens' bill to bring almost $9,000,000 to the people of the State is great work. It has passed the Senate and is now pending in the House. It will benefit every citizen of the State.

Stephens was the first man to make an effort to investigate the buying and selling of offices, by holding up appointments in the Senate. More than two years ago, he had a bill passed through the Senate making it a crime to buy and sell public office. Before that, such conduct was not criminal. Judge Holmes says that no one could have been indicted at Biloxi but for the passage of this bill. This is a complete answer to the dirty charge that Stephens did nothing to put a stop to such ugly business.

Yet, knowing this, his opponent, without any regard for the truth and without any evidence to warrant the charge, continues to assert that the Senator was entirely silent, that he had knowledge of what was going on and made no effort to prevent it, and that he was a party to it. This contemptible charge is uttered by a tongue festering with falsehood. It is prompted only by a desire to arouse passion and prejudice, and to cover up his own record.

"Let Stephens Remain"

This is the title of an editorial from the Gulf Coast Guide. It calls attention to the fact that South Mississippi and the Sixth Congressional District now furnish one Senator, the Governor, the Lieutenant Governor, and several minor State officers, and that Stephens' opponent also lives in that District. It says, "Why not let North Mississippi keep her Senator. Turn about is fair play".

This is the way thousands of people in South Mississippi feel about the matter. They are too unselfish to want both Senators. How do the people in North Mississippi feel?

Senator Stephens will carry that part of the State which lies south of the A. & V. Railroad. That he will also carry North Mississippi is not doubted. It is hoped that all his friends will vote on August 21st.

STEPHENS CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE.

BEAT 5 SUPERVISOR DISCUSSES TAX RAISES

Ten days' labor, the revised tax rolls of Grenada County, are filed in the court house, for your inspection. It behooves each of you to look to your individual assessment during August. Upon inspection of your revised assessment, should you feel that you have been treated inequitably, and you feel you can establish a just claim, the clerk will show you how to present your claim in a legal manner to the board on the first Monday in September.

In the revision, just concluded, involving as it does hundreds of thousands of individual items, covering every type of soil, every type of animal and every type of house, no doubt errors and, possibly, inequities have crept in. If so, the law provides a way, as indicated in the preceding paragraph, for you to have your day in court.

Certainly, the board has made a conscientious effort to perform a difficult task in a just manner. A spirit of seriousness has permeated its chamber. There seemed to be no disposition to punish political enemies nor to reward political friends thru the tax roll. It has been a most unpleasant duty, tho a necessary one. And if this letter to you, even in a small manner, will cause you to appreciate our difficult problem, and to visualize the spirit of fairness with which we undertook its solution, it shall have served its purpose well.

If you meet on the tax book that beautiful diamond which has been growing, unseen by the wary assessor, don't howl for, if you do, the State Revenue Agent might hear you and knock on your door with a package that smells like "back-taxes".

If you meet on the tax book that beautiful diamond which heretofore has only glistened in its pristine glory on that hand "which you love to hold", just grin and begin saving to straighten up its debt to the commonwealth.

If you meet on the tax roll that noiseless, frictionless, vibration-less palace of elegance on wheels which heretofore has passed unnoticed as a $40 Ford, own up and say, "that's me, I'm him" (in the excellent grammar is excused). And those way out in the country, (and I'm as far out as any), whom the politicians love but once in four years (and give 'em hell the rest of the time), I would advise, if that old dog which you have to carefully look up in the smoke-house all day every day and which you turn loose every night to prey upon your neighbor's hen nests, barks at you from the pages of the tax book, be a man and say, "yes, that's my baby".

And in general, if you find something on the book which has not been there before, and should have been there, don't howl, yell and gnash your teeth and consign your beloved supervisor to the ceaseless cycles of an endless torment, but go to him, slap him on the back and say, "I'm glad I voted for you. You kept that stuff off the books a long time. Thank you, old man, thank you. I am going to send you a watermelon tomorrow". The poor supervisor will appreciate these kind words if he does not die of shock before the words pass from his ears to his brain. You fellows in Beat 2 should write the suggested words of appreciation to Mr. James, for fat men are notoriously modest and blush easily and often, and the avalanche of commendatory words in which he will be submerged will cause permanent banishment of blood from his stomach to his face—with bad physical results.

Seriously, we have tried to establish plans of equality upon which we tried to place property justly due thereon. We have done the best we could with the lights before us. We have, possibly, made errors due to faulty information.

Again, see the assessment books during this month, make your protest in the proper manner before the clerk, file it for action of the board in September. As soon after the board adjourns in September as the books can be straightened they will be sent to the Tax Commission for its verdict. It will be a case of getting your case adjusted in September or of forever holding your peace.

Finally, what I have written here is in no sense official. I have not consulted any other supervisor about the subject matter. I may not even show it to any of my colleagues before I ask The Sentinel to publish it. This letter, poor and inadequate it may be, is the result of a sincere desire to acquaint our tax payers with the seriousness and the difficulty of the problem which we have attempted to solve for you.

Yours truly,
W. W. WHITAKER.
Holcomb, Miss., Aug. 15, 1928.

BORDENS COMING TO FAIR

People in the North Mississippi Fair district will be interested to know that Mr. and Mrs. John Borden are making their plans to attend the forthcoming fair at Grenada, Oct. 8-13, inclusive. A message from Mr. Borden a few days ago to S. M. Cain, secretary of the fair association, discussing plans for the meet this fall, advised that he and his wife will attend the event and that he expects to give his personal attention to the duties developing upon him in his capacity as president of the association.

Since his election as president Mr. Borden has taken a keen and active interest in every department of the annual event and his participation in the work of the promotion of the fair has meant much in its great success in recent years and has done a great deal in giving the Grenada meet the high rank it enjoys among southern fairs. He has been unusually liberal with his wealth in furthering the spread of the doctrine of diversification and better farming in north Mississippi through the lessons taught by the fair.

Mr. Borden's purchase of Glenwild Plantation and the vast improvement he has made in the place since he acquired it, making of Glenwild one of the show places of the south, has required that he spend a great deal of his time in Grenada and he has come to know much of southern people and especially those in and near Grenada. Although, financially, his interests are largely centered in other sections of the country, The Sentinel believes that his heart is here and that he takes as much pride in the progress of Grenada and this section as a nativeborn citizen.

The people of the fair district will welcome the Bordens and are glad to know that they are to be here.

MANY PARTICIPATE IN LAST GUN CLUB SHOOT

Perhaps the greatest number of shooters to take part in the weekly events staged by the Grenada Gun Club since its organization participated in the shooting last Thursday afternoon. More than a score of shooters faced the traps and some excellent scores were made during the afternoon. Five visitors were here from Kosciusko to compete for the various prizes offered.

E. E. Wilkins led the entire field with a score of 49x50 and a fine ham was the trophy awarded to him. Mrs. J. E. Shaw, Jr. led the ladies and she, too, won a ham. Among the visitors, Fred Burgess, with a score of 37x50, was high and a third ham was given him. Low score, 20x50, won for Earl Workman a delicious 40-lb. watermelon. A similar prize was given to S. A. Stonestreet, of Kosciusko, for low visitor score, 25x50.

Fred Lickfold led in the doubles shooting with 44x50, entitling him to become the possessor of a fourth ham awarded by the club. Scores, with the exception of the doubles events, follow:

BIG DEMAND FOR NASH

Kenosha, Wis.—August opened for the Nash Motors Company with the greatest demand for immediate delivery of new "400" series cars ever recorded by sales department officials.

When the July books were checked at the close of business on Tuesday, it was found that 31,049 orders for the shipment of new cars to domestic and export distribution points had been received during the month. To meet this record demand, a total of 17,891 cars had been shipped and placed in the hands of new owners. This shipment total constituted the highest July business in the history of Nash Motors and has been eclipsed but one month on company records.

At the same time, the sales department reported a total of 32,360 orders already received for August delivery of the popular "Four Hundreds", and the number of August shipment orders increasing daily.

This unprecedented demand, apparent from the moment that the new series of Nash cars made their appearance, is forcing production lines in the great Wisconsin plants to new high levels day by day, commensurate with rigid Nash standards of accuracy and fine workmanship.

J. M. COOLEY PASSED AWAY MONDAY MORNING

Mr. J. M. Cooley, aged 79, passed away at the Grenada Hospital Monday morning, Aug. 13, at 2 o'clock, after an illness which had given him more or less annoyance for several years and which became acute during the past few months. He had an affliction common to men and particularly old men. His age and physical condition it was thought would not allow a surgical operation, hence it was found impossible to relieve his trouble.

Mr. Cooley was one of the county's best and most trustworthy citizens. He was honest. He meant to be just in all things. He was candid in his opinions. He had an inquiring mind. He was loyal to what he believed to be right and especially to his friends. He was a kind husband. He was an indulgent parent. He was a good neighbor and upright in all things. For many years he had been a member of the Baptist church and had lived as best he could according to the teachings of the Master. He was kind hearted and ever obliging. He had for many years been a resident of the Providence community and had proved a great factor in the better things of that part of the county.

Something like a year ago, his wife preceded him to the beyond. Since her departure, it could be seen by his more observant friends that he was often sad and lonely and that he was giving more than usual concern to his own departure from this world. The eyes of faith can see the greeting the wife gave when his spirit reached the other shore and the joy they both manifested in being again together in that beautiful land where there is no night, no sickness, sorrow or death but where joy reigns supreme.

The funeral services were held Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock at Providence Baptist church by Dr. W. E. Farr, after which his remains were deposited by the side of those of his wife who had gone on before. He is survived by three sons, J. R., Matt and F. T. Cooley and one daughter, Mrs. Jesse Quinn, of Greenwood, to whom The Sentinel tenders the sincerest sympathy.

that he ordered his paper stopped. Since his subscription is paid up until some time next month we are taking a chance and are continuing the paper to him in the hope that his system is settled by this time and that he will view the question in a more charitable light. If Mr. Black should order a meal in a hotel or restaurant and some item on the menu should happen to not appeal to his taste, we are sure he wouldn't refuse to eat the balance of the order. He'd eat what he liked and leave the rest alone. We have yet to learn of an instance where every line in any newspaper appealed to the reading taste of any individual reader. Such an ideal newspaper does not exist. We hope Mr. Black will continue to read The Sentinel. We'd hate to lose him as a subscriber. We appreciate his kindly reference to our editorials and are glad that he has at least been pleased some time with what he read in our paper. We hope that he'll reconsider that his stomach will become settled and that he'll

"state her straight" in November. We feel that if we knew Mr. Black personally we should like him and that we should be warm personal friends. In all kindness we must say that we think he is wrong in his position and particularly in his error in what he demands of a newspaper. We admire his frank and candid utterances, and shall continue to admire him whether he reads The Sentinel or not.)

THE FAMILY'S FRIEND

Jackson, Miss.—"Dr. Pierce's medicines have been used in my father's family ever since he was a little girl and they always gave us entire satisfaction. I can recommend Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, Favorite Prescription and Pleasant Peppermint. These are the ones we used. My father always said the 'Golden Medical Discovery' could not be equaled as a blood purifier and to build up one's general health. My mother thought the 'Favorite Prescription' superior to any other tonic for women. I found the 'Pleasant Peppermint' a perfect remedy for constipation and biliousness."—Mrs. R. L. Mundt, 726 S. I. C. INVOLVED BY WESTERN STRIKE VOTE

Cleveland, O., Aug. 14.—Sectional meetings were called today to distribute strike ballots to approximately 70,000 employees of western railroads. Wage disputes between the roads and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the Order of Railway Conductors precipitated the action.

A. F. Whitney, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, said the ballots would be distributed today by 90 general chairmen of the two brotherhoods meeting with their committees throughout the west. The decision will be announced September 2, the deadline for the return of ballots to Chicago headquarters.

About 80 railroads owning approximately 98 per cent of the mileage west of Chicago are involved. Wages differences have been settled by arbitration in the east and south.

As a result of the failure of recent efforts to settle the wage question by arbitration in the western states, the balloting will be on the original demands of the unions for increases ranging from 10 per cent, for yardmen to 18 per cent, for trainmen and conductors, Whitney said.

The labor organizations recently rejected an offer of a 7½ per cent. increase because the union insisted on retaining certain existing working rules which the western roads wished to abolish. Among the rules in dispute were those governing the restrictions on the use of two locomotives and the number of cars to be pulled by two engines.

The Illinois Central System is involved in the wage controversy and will be affected if the strike is called. Railroad officials say wages are now at the highest peak.

(Editorial Note: Of course The Sentinel knows nothing about what is the real reason of the threatened strike other than what has appeared in the press. It seems to disinterested observers—and that is the general public—that some way ought to be devised to prevent a strike. The railroads often urge now that the greatly increased wages paid labor as one of the main causes of high freight rates. We do not know about this, but we do know that freight rates are so high that they are a burden to the farmer and stock breeders and to the consuming public. If we were giving advice to our labor organization friends we would counsel them to be careful and not to break the egg laid by the golden goose. The railroads and labor organizations should bear in mind that the public will stand so much and no more. For the sake of all concerned we hope that there will be an amicable adjustment of the differences existing. We were under the impression that there is a National Labor Board who is supposed to pass on matters in dispute between corporations and employees so as to adjust without a strike just such matters as the one now referred to (?))

CARD OF THANKS

I want to thank all my friends who were so good to me during my illness and who were so solicitous about my welfare. Your interest in me has drawn me even closer to you and has made me more and more realize the value of true friendship. The doctors and nurses who waited on me could not have been more attentive had I been one of their own family. From the depths of my heart, I am grateful to all of you and I hope that I may be able in some way to repay you at least in part.

PAUL CARRIES THE GOSPEL
INTO EUROPE

LESSON TEXT—Acts 15:36-16:15.
GOLDEN TEXT—Come over into Macedonia and help us.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Paul's Wonderful Dream.
JUNIOR TOPIC—God Calls Paul to Work in Europe.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Pioneering in Europe.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Paul's Call to Europe.

I. Finding an Assistant for Paul (Acts 15:36-15:5).

1.—Contention over John Mark (vv. 36-41).

(1) Paul's proposal (v. 36).

This was to revisit the scenes of their missionary endeavors to find out what progress the believers were making in their Christian experience.

(2) Determination of Barnabas (v. 37).

It was to take with them John Mark, Barnabas' nephew, (Col. 4:10).

(3) Paul's opposition (v. 38).

He was suspicious of Mark because of his desertion on a former journey (Acts 13:13).

(4) Their separation (vv. 39-41).

Their contention was so sharp that they separated. God overruled this incident to the wider extension of the work. Barnabas took Mark and sailed to Cyprus; Paul chose Silas, and went through Syria and Cilicia.

2. Finding Timothy (16:1-5).

(1) The place (v. 1).

It was the very place where Paul on his first journey had endured cruel stoning. The conversion of Timothy may be regarded as fruitage of Paul's testimony at that time.

(2) His parentage (v. 1).

His mother was a believing Jewess and his father a Greek.

(3) His character (v. 2).

He had a good reputation in the church at Lystra and Iconium.

(4) His circumcision (v. 3).

Timothy had not been circumcised. Doubtless this omission was because his father was a Gentile. To avoid offense among the Jews, Paul circumcised Timothy.

(5) The ministry of Paul and Timothy through the cities (vv. 4, 5).

They delivered decrees which had been ordained at the Jerusalem council (Acts 15:19-24).

II. Forbidden to Preach the Word in Asia (Acts 16:6-8).

The inclination of Paul was to tarry in Asia Minor preaching the Word, but contrary to their inclination they were hurried along. The Holy Spirit is just as active and faithful in closing doors as in opening them.

III. The Call to Macedonia (vv. 9-12).

The time had come for the gospel to begin its conquest of another continent. By the crossing of the gospel from Asia to Europe the church, instead of becoming an oriental movement became mainly occidental.

1. The vision (v. 9).

Being hemmed in on all sides, a vision was given to Paul of a man of Macedonia pleading for help, which made clear the meaning of the closed doors about him.

2. The advance (vv. 10-12).

As soon as the divine way was known they moved forward. Visions, to be effective, must be quickly translated into aggressive action.

IV. The First Convert in Europe (vv. 13-15).

The Jewish element in Philippi was so small that it was unable to afford a synagogue, therefore the devout people were accustomed to worship by the riverside. To a humble gathering of this kind Paul came and preached. Lydia, a business woman from Thyatira, believed. The steps in her conversion are worthy of note, and typical.

1. Attendance at the place of worship (v. 13).

Usually those whom God is calling are found at the place of prayer.

2. Listening to the preaching of the Word of God (vv. 13, 14).

Faith cometh by hearing and hearing by the Word of God (Rom. 10:17).

3. Her heart was opened by the Lord (v. 14).

Only the Lord can convert a soul. It is our business to preach the Word of God, and it is God's business to open the heart of the inquirer. Regeneration is a supernatural work.

4. She was baptized (v. 15).

Every one whose heart the Lord has opened desires to confess Him in baptism.

5. Her household believed (v. 15).

6. Hospitality practiced (v. 15).

Those who have experienced God's saving grace are disposed to have part in His work by rendering aid to His ministers.

WORTH OF ELECTRICITY

What a wonderful nickel's worth it is!

5¢ spent for electricity will run a washing machine for two hours.

5¢ spent for electricity will keep the vacuum cleaner going for six hours.

5¢ spent for electricity will make a hot kitchen comfortable with an electric fan for two hours.

5¢ spent for electricity will run a sewing machine for seven hours.

5¢ spent for electricity will run a vacuum cleaner for three hours.

5¢ spent for electricity will light your reading lamp for two long evenings.

MOST of the good things of life cost much more than they did in 1914; electricity, the shining exception, actually costs no more. This is a record of which the electrical industry is justly proud.

It means that you can use electricity

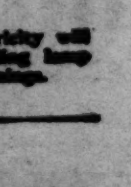

ry freely and still be very economical.

1. means that an American husband ought to allow his wife to waste time and energy in doing one single household task that electricity can do for a few cents an hour.
